Man, Wife Injured When Auto Hits Abutment on Route 34

An auto driven by Walter W. Aylsworth, 53, of Crossville, was totally demolished at 8:15 a. m. today when it hit an abutment to avoid crashing into another car on Rt. 34 near Pankeyville.

Mr. Aylsworth, superintendent of the Crossville unit school, and his wife, Lillian, 52, were injured, Mrs. Aylsworth suffering cuts and bruises.

According to State Policeman Adolph Sweet, Mr. Aylsworth had pulled out to pass another car when an auto driven by Donald Threlkeld of Golconda RFD near Herod, had already started around him. To avoid a collision Mr. Aylsworth took to the side of the road and hit the abutment. The third auto continued on its way.

Convict Signs Confession in Sheppard Killing

DE LAND, Fla. (UP)—Two attorneys obtained a signed murder confession from a Florida convict today which they will use to try to free Dr. Samuel Sheppard from a life prison sentence for the slaying of his wife in 1954.

The attorneys, William Corrigan and Fred Garmone, left De Land for Cleveland, Ohio, hoping the confession by Donald J. Wedler will give them a legal way to reopen the case.

The two attorneys would not disclose their next move at this time. Corrigan said he plans to call a conference of all attorneys connected with Dr. Sam's defense to plan the legal strategy they hope will free the Cleveland osteopath.

Wedler described in a 3 1/2 page statement prepared by the attorneys how he clubbed Marilyn Sheppard to death on July 4, 1954. The statement was prepared from information the attorneys obtained in an interview with Wedler Monday.

The convict signed with the signature, Donald J. Wedler, after he had read the confession and also after it was read to him before witnesses from the state attorney's office and the sheriff's office.

Malan Tells Rotary Of Effects of U. S. Population Growth

What effect will the increasing population have on our country? This subject was discussed by Russell Malan, program chairman, at the Harrisburg Rotary meeting Monday at noon.

Mr. Malan stated that it took from 1607 to 1880 for the population of the U. S. to reach 50 million, as compared to the 20 million increase within the last eight years. At the present rate the population is expected to reach 300 million by 1990. This increase has made a demand for more homes, bigger schools, more jobs, more hospital facilities and more of all the necessities of life.

Mr. Malan said that this increase and its effects should be taken into consideration when planning for the future. In closing he asked the question how many people can this country support without lowering our present standard of living?

Jack Mark from Detroit, Mich., was a guest of the club and was introduced by John Foster.

Carmi Man, Routed With Tear Gas, to be Committed to Hospital

CARMI, Ill. (UP)—White County Sheriff's police said today a man who waged a short gun battle with police will be committed to Anna State Hospital, a mental institution.

Police got a report Monday that Cecil Phelps, 65, had locked himself in his home and threatened to shoot anyone who came close. Sheriff's and state police investigated, and Deputy Woody Proctor was nearly shot when Phelps allegedly fired a shotgun at him.

Proctor pumped two tear gas shells into the house and Phelps surrendered.

Raymond Haselhorst, 29, Breese, remained in critical condition at the Belleville hospital today. Also hospitalized with serious injuries were Constable Charles Sackman, 29, Caseyville, a passenger in his car; Les Kombrink, 40, Caseyville; and Joan Hillesheim, 25, O'Fallon, a passenger in the third car.

State police said the Sackman auto was traveling south on Ill. 150 when it ran a red light and smashed into the Haselhorst car. Both machines careened into the third car driven by Mrs. Dorothy Nesom, 35, O'Fallon, and a fourth driven by Cletus Hickman, 21, Collinsville.

Hickman and Mrs. Nesom were uninjured.

Civil Rights by Long Session, If Necessary

Sen. Knowland Says
Eisenhower Opposes
Jury Trial Amendment

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said after a conference with President Eisenhower today GOP forces are ready to stay in session all winter if necessary to pass an effective civil rights bill.

Knowland said Eisenhower still is of the firm belief that the Senate should reject a jury trial amendment in approving the bill.

The California senator reiterated his personal belief that sponsors have enough votes to defeat the jury trial proposal.

He said he does not know how long it would take to get final Senate action, but hoped there would be no "delaying tactics."

"If it is necessary to stay here all winter to pass an effective civil rights bill," he said, "we are prepared to stay here."

Knowland reviewed the situation with newsmen after the regular weekly White House legislative conference.

One Day "Off"

Well-informed GOP sources said Eisenhower is determined, if necessary, to get on the telephone and round up Republican votes against the jury trial amendment. The source, added, however, that leaders are sure they can defeat the proviso without the Presidents help.

Knowland said the President has not changed his position from his July 16 statement when Eisenhower said Congress should reject the jury trial amendment and uphold the traditional authority of the federal courts to enforce their orders in protecting voting rights.

Knowland said Republican leaders have concurred in a plan to halt the civil rights debate for one day this week to take up House-Senate conference reports and non-controversial legislation. The "off" day probably will be Thursday.

Well Drillers Rescue 17-Month-Old Girl Who Fell 33 Feet Down Into 10-Inch Pipe

ANDERSON, S. C. (UP)—Well drillers using the method which saved Benny Hooper rescued 17-month-old Yvonne Beasley Monday night after four hours and 10 minutes after she had fallen 33 feet down a 10-inch pipe.

Like 7-year-old Benny, blue-eyed, brown-haired Yvonne was rushed to a hospital. Doctors said she suffered from bruises and exposure.

Fire Chief Bailey Maddox, who directed the rescue, said an "elbow" angle leading the iron pipe into the side of a covered terra cotta well stopped the child's plunge, otherwise "she would have kept going and drowned."

The fire department rescue and salvage truck arrived first and quickly lowered an oxygen hose that doctors credited with keeping Yvonne alive in another striking parallel to Benny's famous rescue last May at Manorville, N. Y.

Doctors Take Over

Shortly afterward two physicians arrived and administered the oxygen from a cylinder on the truck during the drilling.

Rains of Help To Farmers, Kimmel Reports

Everybody in the country was ready for the rains that fell starting Saturday afternoon, Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel stated today.

"The rain will help pastures, beans, corn and all summer crops," he stated.

The rain since Saturday has not been heavy, measuring .57 inch. "But a half inch rain now is as good as an inch of rainfall during a dry season," Mr. Kimmel stated. "About everybody with whom I've talked have said they were happy about the rainfall."

The farm adviser said he believed there was plenty of sub-surface moisture and stated the precipitation will replenish the surface soil.

For the most part, he believed, Saline county farmers have sufficient water in the ponds from the rains that came earlier in the year.

However, he stated, situations regarding moisture can be different "even across a fence row."

President Acts On Proposal by Cabinet Group

Legislators from Oil, Coal States
Have Urged Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressmen from oil and coal-producing states voiced lukewarm praise today for the Eisenhower administration's plan to curb oil imports.

A spokesman for domestic oil producers who do not import petroleum took a wait-and-see attitude.

An eastern senator said consumers would suffer higher gas and oil prices.

Domestic producers and legislators from oil and coal states have strongly urged the administration to cut oil imports. They claimed the current import rate hurts American oil and coal industries and thus endangers national security.

President Eisenhower acted late Monday by announcing his approval of recommendations of a Cabinet committee, which has been studying the problem. The committee recommended that U. S. oil importing firms be asked voluntarily to cut back imports about 20 per cent below present levels.

If they don't, the committee recommended the government use its existing power to impose ceilings in the form of quotas on oil imports.

Action Overdue, Johnson Says

Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, who will confer with oil importers, said it may be several months before it is known if voluntary cutbacks can be achieved. The committee recommendation was for the cuts to cover the last half of this year and the first half of next year.

A spokesman for one leading oil importer said the firm would have to study the plan before commenting.

Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America representing most of the small domestic oil producers and a number of large ones, said the association's executive board will meet in Dallas, Tex., Aug. 5 to study the proposal.

Brown said he thought "the President knows what he is doing" but added, "We will wait and see what happens."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said the President had taken "long overdue action which should strengthen the national security." He said the action will limit imports and permit an increase in domestic production, thus assuring enough oil on hand "to meet our needs under any emergency."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Always abounding in the work of the Lord, 1 Cor. 15:58.

Had the early converts to Christianity been only mildly active in their interest Christian civilization never would have been established. We still would have the abysmal degeneracy of the decadent Roman Empire.

Unprepared

We like to think these days that we are truly a long way from another war. But, properly, we still maintain our civil defense organization in most areas in some fashion or other.

One sad thing, however, is that in very few places is it genuinely adequate even by the most minimum standards. Funds are insufficient and interest is low.

Another, evidently, is that public indifference is such that it is doubtful if even such defensive measures as could be taken would really be effective.

University of Michigan testers found that if air raid sirens sounded a real alarm only some 20 percent of the people would believe an actual attack was under way. Most would do nothing in response, or perhaps do the wrong thing.

Considering all that is at stake, this is a rather sad state of affairs. Our luck had better be enormously good in the months and years ahead.

"If It Shouts, Salute It—If It Rustles, Stamp It"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Bawled Out His Secretary Of Education Over School Bill; New Undersecretary Of The Treasury Mixed Politics With Tax Collecting; Five Sailors Try To Escape France.

WASHINGTON. — The inside story of the backing-and-forth over the school bill is a sorry one. Though the secretary of health, education, and welfare, Marion B. Folsom, a former big businessman and director of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, did his best to pass the bill, he actually got bawled out by the President for his pains.

What happened was that Folsom announced to the press early last week that he was confident President Eisenhower would throw his weight behind the school bill. He knew, though he didn't say so, that the President had pulled all sorts of wires to block Hells Canyon, to pass foreign aid, and originally to pass a strong civil rights bill. He also knew that the President had gone on record in speech after speech last fall for aid to education, had also backed it in a message to Congress.

So he was sure the President would get on the phone to key congressional leaders to help pass the bill. But GOP Leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana begged Eisenhower not to support the school bill. The bill had certain compromise aspects worked out by the most loyal Eisenhower Republicans the President has on Capitol Hill—Congressmen Peter Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and Sam McConnell of Pennsylvania. But Halleck persuaded Eisenhower to oppose it.

Following Secretary Folsom's statement that he was sure Ike would throw his weight behind the bill, the cabinet officer was actually summoned to the White House and reprimanded.

On top of this, Eisenhower canceled his regular Wednesday news conference because it would have preceded the scheduled vote in the House and he was sure to be asked about his support of the school bill.

The fact that the school bill lost by only five votes indicates how little push it would have taken from the White House to pass it. The school bill as finally proposed by Ayres of Ohio was Republican-drafted, exactly as Ike wanted it. After the Democratic floor leaders urged acceptance of this Eisenhower version, however, two of Ike's own leaders—Halleck and Leslie Arends of Illinois—voted against it.

Right after the war, when cars were scarce, Charlie Halleck sported two Cadillacs around Washington. He won the nickname "Two-Cadillac Charlie." But last week when he saw that a school bill might pass, he wanted no new schools for children. He went over to Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, leader of the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition, and whispered in his ear. Speaker Sam Rayburn also went over and whispered to Smith. Smith then moved to strike the enacting clause of the school bill. He won by five votes.

For another year the school bill is dead.

MAN FROM MAINE
Certain New England Republicans will be secretly pleased if the Democrats take a careful look, or even defeat the confirmation of Fred C. Scribner to be undersecretary of the treasury.

Reason is that Scribner once tried to defeat GOP Sen. Margaret Chase Smith; second, Scribner is not an effective Republican.

After the San Francisco convention last year, Scribner, as Republican National committeeman, announced he was "rolling up his sleeves for a smashing victory in Maine." Result: Maine elected a Democratic congressman for the first time in years, nearly lost a second congressman; and in Scribner's own district, Cumberland county, a six-Republican assembly membership was reduced to one Republican and five Democrats.

At San Francisco, incidentally, Scribner had defied a resolution of the Maine GOP convention that Senator Smith's name must be placed in nomination for vice president and tried to keep her name from being mentioned. He was former campaign manager for Senator Smith's opponent when she surprised the nation by winning in 1948.

Democrats have an excellent excuse to go after Scribner's Senate confirmation on the ground that politics has been mixed with the income tax collecting agency of government. It's traditional that anyone serving in the key and very sensitive post of general counsel of the treasury, which has the final say on tax cases, be icily aloof from politics.

However, Scribner stepped from general counsel of the Republican National committee into the job of general counsel of the treasury. Furthermore, he kept his job as GOP National committeeman from Maine. This is unprecedented.

FRANCO OR FREEDOM?

Five Spanish sailors who don't like Dictator Franco and jumped ship from two former U. S. destroyers which we gave to Franco, are getting the merry-go-round from U. S. authorities in Los Angeles. They desperately want to live in Mexico, and Mexico is willing to take them. But Franco desperately wants them back, and Adm. Charles C. Hartman of the U. S. Navy, together with the Immigration Service, is helping Franco.

Half an hour before the Spanish ships were to pull out of Los Angeles, however, kindly U. S. District Judge Thurmond Clark took pity on them, permitted them to remain in the U. S. A. until he rules either for Franco or for their freedom. They told him if returned to Spain they could never get jobs, might be shot.

Meanwhile, Franco's officials in Washington are pressuring for their return. Meanwhile also, official Washington was passing the buck. Said Robert Grannis, spokesman for the Immigration Service: "When persons seek political asylum, the Justice Department follows State Department policy."

Said Lincoln White, spokesman for the State Department: "Those are strictly matters for the Justice Department."

Note — In appealing to Judge Clark, A. L. Warren, Civil Liberties union attorney, cited the case of Andre Artukovich, "The Himmeler of Yugoslavia," who as Hitler's puppet minister of justice in occupied Yugoslavia helped murder one million Serbs and Jews. The same federal court in Los Angeles ruled that he could remain in the U. S. A. "Artukovich murder 1 thousands of people," argued Warren. "These boys only jumped ship."

"Beowulf," an epic probably written about 750 A. D., is considered the greatest Anglo-Saxon poem.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service)

Newborn babies cause a lot of excitement. Fond parents are proud of their offspring. Fathers broadcast their pride in no uncertain terms.

Grandparents seem to glow with inward light when their children have children of their own.

It seems pathetic that happy grandparents must frequently hold their patience many months before they see these tiny objects of their pride.

Men in the armed services and others separated unavoidably must delay seeing the objects of their love.

Our Father in Heaven knows when every infant comes into the world, but He, too, must wait long periods of time for these children to come to Him for their full birthright as sons of God. His children must be born spiritually before they know the full benefit of God's love and affection. All parents should bring their children to God for His blessing and help in guiding them through life.

Weather Bureau Will Spend Millions To Teach How to React to Storms

IN THE WAKE OF HURRICANE AUDREY: Louisiana looks for her unaccounted citizens and the U. S. Weather Bureau begins an emergency program to teach the nation what storm warnings mean.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The shocking death toll from the Louisiana hurricane was a case of public education lagging too far behind scientific progress.

This is how the U. S. Weather Bureau analyzes that tragedy.

To correct this situation and prevent the same thing from happening in a half dozen similar danger spots, the Bureau is drafting a million dollar emergency public education program.

"Our forecasting of that storm and the water surge was just about as accurate as scientific methods can achieve," a Bureau spokesman asserted, "but the people just failed to react to our warnings."

The area had a 24-hour notice of the approach of the winds with the prediction of a five-foot surge of water. Eleven hours before the water hit, the Bureau issued an official bulletin that the surge would be nine feet high, enough to inundate the areas which were flooded.

"The trouble was that the people didn't really understand what our warning meant or felt that it just couldn't be happening to them," the Weather Bureau spokesman said. "They stayed home when they should have evacuated the area," he says.

The education program which the Bureau is drafting would include movies, lectures, drills and conferences with public officials for the preparation of emergency plans.

Newspaper reporters and local radio and TV commentators would be instructed on how to interpret and report Bureau warnings to the public faster and more effectively. Sheriffs, Red Cross people, civil defense officials and local and state police would be called together for briefings on the special problems resulting from hurricanes.

During the next few months these education efforts would be concentrated in low coastal communities most vulnerable to hurricane-caused water surges. This surge, or tidal wave forecasting, is relatively new and not generally understood. It's based on complicated calculations of wind speed and direction and water depths.

Eventually the Bureau's education program would be spread all over the U. S., to areas threatened by hurricanes alone, not subject to the tidal wave threat.

Among the areas most vulnerable to surges or waves, Weather islands in the Gulf of Mexico, near Corpus Christi, Tex.; the Dolphin Islands near Mobile, Ala.; the Jacksonville, Fla., beaches, and the coastal areas near Charleston, S. C. There are many other sections similar to these.

"Tens of thousands of people flock to these spots on weekends or when it's hot and if a storm should strike at these times the death toll could be fantastic," one of the Bureau experts claims.

"We shake in our boots when storms threaten these areas for this reason," he adds.

The new surge forecasting is the result of emergency funds granted to the Bureau by Congress in 1956, following the terrible hurricanes of the previous season. Congress will be asked to appropriate the additional million dollars to finance the education program the Bureau is drafting.

Last year the Bureau ran a small pilot public education program in Kansas City on how to respond to tornado warnings. As a result, the death toll was reduced more than 50 per cent the next time a tornado hit the area, it is claimed.

A similar pilot program was run at Fargo, N. D. The next time a tornado hit 250 houses were destroyed but only seven persons were killed. The people of the town had learned how to react to the warnings.

"We learned the hard way in Louisiana that such education programs are necessary to fill the gap in our hurricane warning program," the Weather Bureau spokesman said.

The summer camp, made up of cadets from 14 educational institutions, opened on June 22 and will close August 2, after six weeks of strenuous training and planned recreation. At that time, most of the cadets will return to their schools to complete the last year before graduation. Some of the cadets have already received a bachelor's degree and will be commissioned in the Army Reserve at the close of camp. Those who return to school and successfully complete the ROTC program will be commissioned upon their graduation.

Women Lucky

PINEVILLE, Ky. — (UP)—Mrs. Jobeda Khanam says that most American housewives have no idea how fortunate they are.

Mrs. Khanam, a native of Pakistan, is in this country to study agricultural and industrial development, under the auspices of the International Cooperation Administration. She is visiting family groups in Kentucky mountain and rural communities.

She said that 80 per cent of American housewives have most of their work done for them by commercial groups—something that 80 per cent of Pakistan families cannot afford.

Mrs. Khanam, holder of four university degrees, said 60 per cent of a mother's time in Pakistan is occupied with cooking and preparing meals. About 20 per cent have some sort of sewing machine, but one per cent or less have electrical facilities.

She believes that electric power is her country's most pressing need at the present time.

Many Older Colleges Shun Expansion Despite Boom in Prospective Students

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK — (NEA)—A significant number of the nation's 1,800 institutions of higher learning are making no plans to increase their enrollments in spite of tremendous pressures:

1. College enrollment at a record 3.25 million is already increasing and will probably double by 1970 as the bumper crop of World War II babies comes of college age.
2. High school graduates going to college have climbed from 15 per cent in 1940 to 40 per cent today.
3. Alumni, especially of smaller, conservative schools are pressing for expansion on three counts—sons, status and sports.
4. A general uneasiness among administration officials that tax immunity means broader public responsibility.

But while land grant and tax supported schools are seeking ways to expand and new colleges are being organized, many older colleges are holding back—with or without spoken reason.

One admissions officer of a college in this conservative group explained that his office had three men on the road each year discouraging prep and high school seniors.

"This college boom has its uses," he said. "We can now pick the top boys. And that means more than just good grades."

He wondered, however, whether he or many of his classmates would be accepted by his school in today's fierce competition for entrance.

"We're emphasizing leadership in our selection," he said. "That would have let me out from the beginning."

That paradox describes the situation in many admissions offices. Of last year's 1,031 entering freshmen at one of these schools, 506 were varsity captains or lettermen, 342 were school newspaper or yearbook editors, 178 were senior class or student council presidents.

While alma mater can gather to herself prodigious sons in today's school shortage, there's irony in it for the alumni.

In the first place, "hereds"—sons and grandsons of graduates—have little advantage over other contenders for a place in the freshman class.

In the second place, there is a nagging fear among alumni best expressed by one Bowdoin graduate this way:

"If the other schools expand and we don't, we'll be outnumbered in the sphere of influence on the job market."

To soothe anxieties like these, traditionally small (750 men) Wesleyan University in Connecticut searched into the respected lists of recognition-for-achievement. The result, purred one administrative officer, was overwhelming proof that "our alumni achieve more proportionately than almost any other school's graduates."

"Never mind that," roared one unschooled alumnus. "Proportions don't do you any good on a football field when the other team ers and a larger plant. And after all, this great wave of boys may not materialize as predicted."

It was his view that skilled labor wages, creeping higher than white collar salaries, might divert many young people away from colleges.

He may have a point. Facing today's high school graduate is a labor market that looks like this: Plumbers earn $3.85 per hour; bricklayers, $4.25; electricians, $3.65; carpenters, $3.75—according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Atomic Commissioner Predicts Use of Radioactive Pills to Diagnose Disease

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Atomic Commissioner Willard F. Libby today predicted use of "radioactive pills" for diagnosis of disease.

A radioactive sugar pill, for example, would "furnish an easy and particularly illuminating way" of diagnosing certain ills involving the body's use of sugar.

Libby forecast the radioactive pill in a speech at the opening of the first privately owned plant for large-scale manufacture of beryllium Corp.

The atomic commissioner said use of radioactive materials (radioisotopes) in industry, agriculture and medicine is mushrooming. They are used as gauges, tracers, drugs, chemical agents and flaw detectors.

These materials, produced as by-products of the atomic energy project, already account for savings of 500 million dollars in agriculture and industry alone, Libby said. Their cost to the government is only three million dollars.

Three years from now, he said, the savings will be five billion dollars a year and the cost to the government 20 million dollars.

Thus by some time in 1960 radio-isotopes "will be paying the whole way for the atom and the American people and the Western world will get their atomic armament and their atomic power developments costs all free."

Speaking in the coal-producing Lehigh Valley, Libby assured his audience that "the atom will help the coal business." He said the Atomic Energy Commission uses "enormous quantities" of coal for production of the nuclear fuel uranium-235.

So whenever U-235 is sent to far-away places to generate power where coal could not be transported economically, the atom in effect is broadening "the use of coal, and benefits the coal business."

Suspend Guard In Escape of Four at Menard

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Warden Ross V. Randolph said today a night guard at the Menard Branch of the Illinois State Penitentiary was temporarily suspended in connection with the escape of four prisoners.

Randolph said the guard, Robert Walker, Benton, was relieved of his duties when an investigation showed he had been negligent in the escape last Sunday.

Walker, who is locked in with the prisoners in their honor farm barracks at night, could have prevented the escape if he had been more observant, Randolph said.

The warden also revealed that federal authorities will be called into the case if the fugitives are not captured today. He said the U. S. Attorney's office and the FBI would be asked to aid in the search.

The escapees were Joe Bill Strange, 25, Albertsville, Ala.; Francis M. Murphy, 36, Terre Haute, Ind.; Clarence Newberry, 29, St. Louis, and Millard Carlisle, 31, Benton, Ill.

They escaped by sawing their way through barred windows of the dormitory. Three of the men would have been eligible for parole within nine months.

Randolph said questioning of fellow inmates indicated the men might have headed for Indiana en route to Alabama. He said they may pull several robberies along the way to get funds.

Actress Barbara Nichols Injured

EAST MEADOW, N. Y. (AP) — Movie actress Barbara Nichols, 26, who has a featured role in "Sweet Smell of Success," was reported in "fair" condition today with injuries received in an automobile accident.

The shapely, blonde actress is recovering from shock suffered when a car in which she was riding collided with another auto Saturday night. She was reported resting comfortably at Meadowbrook Hospital.

The driver of the car in which Miss Nichols was riding, Leverett S. Miller, 25, and both occupants of the second auto were treated for cuts and bruises.

Police said Miss Nichols was on her way to spend the week end with Miller and his wife, former actress Ava Norring, when the accident happened.

Admiral Halsey Is Stricken

NEW YORK (AP) — Fleet Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey Jr., who suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Sunday, was reported resting comfortably and "doing fine" today at Doctors Hospital.

The 73-year-old retired admiral, whose exploits as a World War II commander in the Pacific made him one of the Navy's most celebrated heroes, was stricken while spending the weekend on Fishers Island, N. Y., in Long Island Sound. He was flown from the island Monday to Teterboro Airport, N. J., by his aide, Lt. Comdr. George Beck, and then taken by car to the hospital.

Beck said that Halsey's speech had been affected by a slight paralysis, but not his limbs.

Halsey commanded the 3rd Fleet during World War II, leading that force in some of the greatest sea battles in naval history. And it was aboard his flagship, the U. S. S. Missouri, that the Japanese formally accepted unconditional surrender.

Ex-Sen. George Seriously Ill

VIENNA, Ga. (AP) — Former Sen. Walter F. George, his heart ailment grown worse since the past weekend, today was reported "definitely getting worse" and his outlook "very grave."

The former Democratic dean of the Senate whom President Eisenhower appointed his personal ambassador to NATO was being administered oxygen at intervals 24 hours a day, physicians reported.

Dr. J. Willis Hurst, a heart specialist who is chairman of the department of medicine at Emory University in Atlanta, rushed to George's home Monday and spent the night at his bedside.

Lions are not common to the jungle. They prefer to stay in the plains and in scrub or thorn forest.

Douglas Claims Marine Sergeant Denied Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) claimed Monday a Marine sergeant was denied "adequate justice" when he was court-martialed in a trial where his defense counsel testified as a prosecution witness.

Douglas suggested in a short Senate speech that the judge advocate general's office should ask the Court of Military Appeals whether a man can "possibly receive due process of law" under those conditions.

The case involved M. Sgt. Carl Buck, who was found guilty of larceny in a case arising out of the theft of some military chevrons. He was sentenced by a court which deliberated seven minutes to a fine, a jail term, reduction in rank and a bad conduct discharge.

The Illinois Democrat contended there are strong grounds for believing that Buck is innocent of the larceny charges brought against him. The senator said the judge advocate general also should seek "clarification" of "mistakes" in the facts as set forth by the court of military appeals in its decision.

Douglas said his Senate statement was prompted by weekend news stories reporting that the Navy judge advocate general has turned down Buck's appeal for a new review of the case. The sergeant, Douglas said, has thus been "discharged in disgrace from the Marine Corps."

Leopold Denied Clemency

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton today denied thrill slayer Nathan Leopold executive clemency.

Stratton's decision meant that Leopold, the rich and brilliant college boy who helped murder Bobby Franks in the "crime of the century" in 1924, will have to serve out his present 85-year sentence.

Leopold had asked Stratton to cut his term to 64 years, which would have freed him with time off for good behavior next Dec. 10.

However, Stratton held out some slim hope for the possible future release of Leopold through parole. He said Leopold "may file a petition for a re-hearing of his case at any time he desires."

"If in the opinion of the members of the Parole and Pardon Board a rehearing is warranted, his name will be placed on a subsequent docket for a hearing and then further consideration will be given his case on the question of his possible release on parole under supervision in community life," the governor said.

Dulles Seeks to Pep Up Talks On Disarmament

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles started talks with Western delegation leaders today in an attempt to inject new life into the dragging London disarmament conference.

Before they met, Moscow Radio blasted Dulles for coming here and predicted he would throw a monkey wrench into the works.

Meeting with Dulles were British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and the chiefs of the Western delegations involved in the 4-month-old talks in the U. N. disarmament subcommittee.

They included U. S. delegate Harold Stassen, Britain's Cmdr. Alan Noble, Jules Moch of France and David Johnston of Canada.

The Foreign Office talks followed a 3 1/2 hour morning session between Dulles and Stassen at the U. S. embassy. Dulles had conferred with Lloyd Monday night at Winfield House, residence of U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

It was understood Dulles intended to urge the Western delegates to make another powerful attempt to reach agreement with the Russians, at least on President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan.

There was no indication when or if Dulles would meet with Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin.

Pierce Blanks Yankees for 15th Victory; Cardinals' Mizell Shuts Out Pirates

By United Press
Billy Pierce, the gritty little southpaw who is chiefly responsible for keeping the Chicago White Sox' pennant hopes alive, is the majors' first 15-game winner of the season today and may wind up the American League's first 25-game winner since 1949.

Pierce, who is certain he won't bog down in the latter stages of the campaign as he did last year, hurled his fourth shutout and advanced the White Sox to within three games of the idle New York Yankees Monday night with a 5-0 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

Pierce didn't walk any and struck out six batters as he faced only 30 batters over the nine-inning distance. The White Sox broke the scoreless duel with Hal Brown in the sixth inning with three runs—two on a single by Luis Aparicio—and added single runs in the seventh and ninth.

Braves Stay On Top
The victory was the hustling White Sox' seventh in 10 games since July 19. During the same period, the Yankees have managed to win only four of 10 games and now have fallen back to within striking range of a team that was being counted out of the race two weeks ago.

Tom Brewer notched his 13th victory of the season as the Boston Red Sox beat the Cleveland Indians, 6-2, in the only other American League game. The Milwaukee Braves retained their half-game lead in the madcap National League scramble via a 10-inning, 9-8 verdict over the New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-0, and the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the Chicago Cubs, 6-0, in other games.

Ted Williams collected a single and a double in three tries to raise his league-leading average to .379 and help the Red Sox win their ninth game in their last 12 starts. Brewer struck out nine behind a 12-hit attack that also included a homer by Ted Lepcio and a two-run single by Jackie Jensen. Mike Garcia suffered his seventh loss.

Winning Run Forced In

Relief pitcher Al Worthington walked Felix Mantilla with the bases filled in the 10th inning to present the Braves with the run that enabled them to hold first place. The Braves had rallied for four runs in the last of the ninth to tie the score at 8-8 and filled the bases in the 10th on two walks sandwiched around a single by Del Crandall. Wes Covington and Del Crandall homered for Milwaukee while Willie Mays, Daryl Spencer and Ray Jablonski hit homers for New York.

Vinegar Bend Mizell, the Cardinals' No. 1 disappointment most of the season, yielded only two hits—both in the fourth inning—in winning his fourth decision. Wally Moon, who stretched his hitting streak to 15 games, singled home the Redbirds' first run and scored their second against rookie Carl Douglas, who yielded only five hits but walked seven in five innings.

Robin Roberts scored his second straight victory and eighth of the year compared to 13 defeats with a four-hitter that marked the Phillies' 13th win in 18 games with the Cubs. Harry Anderson drove in two runs with three singles and Joe Lonnett homered to spark the Phillies' attack.

Doctors Report Beaten Heavyweight Challenger Is In "Fair Condition"

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, defeated Monday night in a world heavyweight title bout, was taken to a hospital early today suffering from what doctors described as "a urinary condition."

Attendants at Meadowbrook Hospital in suburban East Meadow, Long Island, where Jackson was taken, reported the defeated challenger was "in fair condition."

They declined to elaborate immediately upon his ailment or to say whether it resulted from the pounding which Jackson took from heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson at the Polo Grounds. Patterson was awarded a TKO in the 10th round.

Dr. George C. Erickson, a hospital assistant, said Jackson would undergo various tests during the day, including X-rays, "to locate the exact spot where the difficulty is."

Many boxers have suffered similar conditions from severe kidney punches received in the ring.

Jackson was floored three times in his fight with Patterson, who left his opponent bleeding from the brows, the mouth and nose.

Fever Has Subsided

In a story written for the United Press after the fight, Patterson said that he concentrated on Jackson's head, rather than the body, "trying to land a blow that would stagger him."

Although Jackson did not complain of head injuries when he was admitted to the hospital, Erickson said tests of his general condition were being made.

Jackson also had a fever when he was admitted, but it subsided later.

Patterson said after the fight that he believed he would have earlier if he hadn't been so "rusty."

It was his first fight in eight months and his first defense of the heavyweight crown.

"I should have put him away early for the full count instead of letting him last for a TKO in the 10th," said the 22-year-old champ, who stretched his winning string to 19 straight before 18,101 at the Polo Grounds.

"But I hadn't fought in eight months—since winning the title against Archie Moore—and I was rusty."

He promised, "I'm going to defend the title three or four times a year to keep rust away, starting with Pete Rademacher next month."

Seattle Guarantee Bigger

The poker-faced youngster who floored Jackson three times and battered him into a helpless, bloody wreck, said he would be delighted to defend next against Olympic champion Rademacher, an amateur, at Seattle, Wash., on Aug. 22.

He'll get a guarantee of $250,000 for that defense. He received only a $175,000 guarantee for his lopsided blasting of Jackson, who was n't credited with a single round by referee Ruby Goldstein, the two judges, or the United Press.

Despite his claims of rust, Patterson—weighing 184 pounds to Jackson's 192 1/2—was much more impressive Monday night than he was 13 months ago, when he had to contend with a split 12-round decision over the "iron man" from St. Albans, N. Y. But Patterson had suffered a fractured right hand in the fifth round of that first Jackson fight. Today he was unmarked and uninjured.

Patterson Lost Money

Little Emil Lence, the first independent promoter to stage a heavyweight title fight in 20 years, hoped to use Patterson in two or three more defenses in New York—perhaps one or two in a big armory during the cold months.

Dress manufacturer Lence said, "I have established a beachhead with this fight, although the gate was disappointing because of the threat of bad weather yesterday and the long betting odds."

The gross gate was only $187,716 and the net gate $161,367. There were only 13,305 cash customers in the Giants' ball park.

Although Lence received $175,000 from TV-radio—the same amount he had guaranteed Patterson—he doubtless lost money on his first venture into big-time promotion. Before the fight, he had stated he needed a gross gate of at least $200,000 to break even.

Jackson, fighting for 20 per cent of all net receipts (including TV-radio) will get about $67,270 for his beating.

Challenger Badly Hurt

Jackson was bleeding from both brows, from the mouth and nose when referee Goldstein mercifully ended the battering at 1:52 of the 10th. Tommy's left eye was swollen nearly shut and his right cheek was badly puffed.

In the first round, a right to the chin had put Tommy down almost at the exact second the bell rang. Again in the second round, a right to the jaw spun him to the canvas for a count of six. But before the bell sounded for the third, Jackson was dancing a jig in his corner.

The third knockdown was scored in the ninth round, when a right dropped him for a count of four.

"I went to Jackson's corner after the ninth and told them I'd stop the fight if Tommy had another bad round," Goldstein explained. "Every one in the corner looked at me as if they hoped I'd stop it as soon as possible. So I did stop it in the 10th when he was ready to go down again."

Racing Begins Wednesday At Ellis Park

ELLIS PARK, Ky.—The thirty-fourth racing meet of this Western Kentucky establishment gets under way Wednesday and one of the top events of the 29-day summer session is carded for Saturday, August 3. This classic is the James C. Ellis Memorial Handicap.

This race carries the top prize of the meeting, a purse of $2,145. It is for three-year-olds and upward and will be contested over the six-furlong route. The leading sprinters at the track are expected to face the barrier in this event.

This feature attraction has been named in memory of the man who brought thoroughbred horse racing to Western Kentucky in a big way to the track that now bears his name. Mr. Ellis saw horse racing climb from several years of financial failures to many successful years before he passed away in 1956. This success was due to his untiring efforts to really put racing over in a big way. Mr. Ellis was also noted for his interest in breeding race horses and a number of horses bred at his farm on the Carter Road and later sold as the dispersal sales, have already visited the winner's circle.

Another race carrying the same size purse—$2,145—will be contested Saturday, August 10. This is the Governor's Handicap and will be for three-year-olds and upward at one mile.

Racing will continue at the local track daily except Sunday through Monday, Labor Day, September 2. Post time for the first race will continue at 1 p. m. CST.

In the deep entry of her home, Garde unlocked the front door for Nan, then stood looking down at her for a moment before he put his arm around her and kissed her.

She looked up at him, her eyes glowing in the light from the small lamp in the hall. "That tasted like goodby," she said.

"No," he answered gently. "It was only good night, dear."

Carrying his new cap in his hand, Garde went to the side door of the house, ducking his head against the rain which was coming down now steadily, softly whispering. His mother called to him from her bedroom and he answered her, then went on to his own room.

Being as quiet as he could, he changed his clothes, putting on jeans and erpe-soled shoes. He laid a flashlight ready and sat down to read until his own house should be quiet. Within half an hour Beth's breathing came steadily, rhythmically. He tip-toed out into the hall, down the back stairs and out through the side entry. A glance at the windows showed him that the Stanfield house was dark. He got a spade from the garage wall and went around the house, feeling his way cautiously, not wanting to attract notice by using his flash.

The ground under Valley's evergreens was powdery dry when Garde turned over the first spadeful of it, working cautiously. He wished he had put on a cap; his hair was getting wet, and the water ran down his neck and into his eyes.

"Is this what you are looking for?"

His spade grated against the sandy soil—the last voice he had expected to hear, the last person he had feared would hear him, and see him, was Valley. He straightened and turned. "I—" he began. He fumbled for his flash, snapped it on; its circle of light showed the yellow scarf she wore, her white raincoat, her blue eyes shining like fire.

She reached her empty hand toward him. "Turn it off," she cried in a whisper. "You'll have the gardeners out!"

He snapped the switch and blinked at the darkness.

Valley nudged his arm with the thing she carried. He peered at her in the gloom. "What is that?" he asked crossly.

"I don't know, Garde. His father gave it to me—he told me to guard it with my life . . ." They spoke in whispers.

"What's in it?" he asked, looking at the bundle in the gloom.

"I don't know what's in it," Valley was telling him. "I—he just told me to take it. I suppose he knew that their house would be searched. And it was, of course."

Now Garde took the bundle. It was a small plastic bag such as his mother used to protect sweaters or woolen scarfs. He slid the zipper open and used his flash for a second to see what he had. Why, it was a small medical kit—of leather.

He stood with his head down-bent in thought. He'd expected to find something under those trees. But now that he held that something in his hands—"I don't know much law," he told Valley. "but I think what you've done would be called concealing evidence."

"But I didn't know it was evidence, Garde!"

"Didn't you?"

The pale oval of her face lifted to his gaze. The yellow scarf entirely bound her head, no hair escaped it. "Well, if I did know it might be evidence, I felt that it would be of a sort to prove Kurt guilty."

"The court called him guilty without it."

"Yes. On circumstantial evidence. But the rest of us—his friends . . . This might have proved him guilty to us. Maybe it was all I could do for him, but I had to do that much! I—a woman can be expected to shield, to protect

"I've argued to myself that I was doing only what could be expected of me. But it wasn't being honest or brave, was it? I began to acknowledge that last spring right after you came here, Garde Shelton. You just stand like an oak tree and your eyes see right through any compromise, you wait patiently for a person to get thru with all her excuses—and I couldn't seem to argue even with myself, very effectively, any more. I couldn't go on doing it and believing it."

She took a deep breath, and stepped closer to him. "I couldn't seem to go on being Valley Stanfield any more. I'd worked years to create that woman, slick and hard and—well—untouchable. But you did something—or said something—maybe it was just your presence here in town and right next door to me and my family.

"Well, there's no use in prolonging the matter. My conscience gave its first kick that day. And since, although it had lain buried for years, it's been twinging and twitching. I kept remembering this bag—

"And old Dr. Lillard kept being anxious about something, and I knew this probably was it. I thought he meant for me to destroy it, because, you know, there was a good chance it really would convict Kurt and ruin him, not only before us—his family and his friends—and put him beyond all hope of appeal in court.

"I wanted to destroy the thing, and I told the old man I had. But I hadn't, quite. What I did was to put it in this plastic bag and bury it when I planted the trees . . ."
